"The Ottawa Spotlight"

A Weekly Review of National Affairs
(By Spectator)

Ottawa, August 25. — Mr. Roosevelt

The visit of the U. S. President to Ottawa, August 25. — Mr. Roosevelt's visit to Kingston and to the new Thousand Island bridge has been an event that stands out prominently and happily in the public eye. In itself the opening of the bridge at Thousand Island, spanning in an eight mile stretch the picturesque Thousand Island section of the St. Lawrence, is of great importance to the tourist trade. But it is the bridge as a symbol and what was said at the ceremonies during the president's visit that have turned the eyes and thought of the world on the two pleasant, summer time events of last Thursday.

Words spoken by Mr. Roosevelt when he received the delegation of the degree from the chancellor of Queen's University were met with applause by thousands gathered in the Richardson stadium at Kingston. He found a warm responsive echo in the hearts of all Canadians. They were also interested in Great Britain and other countries which foster the interests of democracy. "The Dominion of Canada," he said, "is part of the heartbeat of the British Empire. It gives to you assurance that the people of the United States will not stand by if by domination of Canadian soil is threatened by any other power. The president reminded his hearers that for years when Canadians and Americans have met they have happily saluted as neighbors and friends without thought of danger from overseas." Now the situation has changed. "We in the Americas," said, "are no longer a far away continent to which the allies of controversy beyond the seas could bring no interest and no harm." The Americans had become a consideration of "every propaganda office and to every general staff beyond the seas." Another very strong point he made was that "we cannot prevent our people from having an opinion in regard to wanton brutality, in regard to indiscriminate destruction, in regard to the rights of helpless peoples, or in regard to violations of accepted international rights. No country would thought is free can make every five and home within its borders from considering the threat for itself and rendering its verdict and the sum total of these conclusions of the engaged men and women will in the long run become the national verdict. It is what we must have as the best public opinion ultimately governs policy." The British and the French press were very favorably impressed with President Roosevelt's speech.

To the salute of 21 guns, with guards of honor, with mounted troops, with the appearance of a huge crowd in attendance, Mr. Roosevelt on behalf of the United States and Prime Minister Mackenzie King cut the ribbon of the great bridge across the St. Lawrence, opening it for the traffic of future years. "It is a joy to me," said Mr. King "to be able to join with the President in drawing to the attention of the citizens of other lands as well as our own the wide significance of today's proceedings. "The new bridge," he said, "was an other bond between two peoples who rivalled one another not in arms, but in devotion to the ways of peace." It was fitting that on the new bridge the representatives of the two countries should celebrate the birth of a century of peace between them. He cordially endorsed and reciprocated the good neighbor policy, which was so near to the heart of the President and "it might add to the hearts of all of us." The government and the people of Canada, said, "were profoundly grateful for the President's many expressions of friendship and goodwill."

St. Lawrence Brawley. The President's strong plea for the early construction of the St. Lawrence riverway to the sea, with its power developments, raises a question on which there is quite obviously in Canada some difference of opinion. At the bridge opening the President said, "Between us stands the great river for two countries of one of the richest natural assets provided anywhere in the world." The plain people of both countries, he said, "will be glad that it was ordinary common sense to make use of it." He urged the deepening of the stream to 27 or 30 feet making every foot take part in ocean port. He warned against the dangers of private monopoly of electric power. He looked forward to the day when "a Canadian Prime Minister and an American President can meet to dedicate not a bridge across this water but the very water itself to the better and productive use of their respective countries." The President's plea will doubtless, it is expected, give renewed vitality in Canada to the question of the construction of the waterway. The Prime Minister of Ontario, however, has been opposed to the idea for the present at least, on account of the power situation in the province and the possible effect on the rail way traffic. There is a consensus of opinion here at Ottawa that the United States will make a strong effort to persuade Canada to join hands in the construction of the project which can be accomplished only with the accord and cooperation of both nations, but Ontario is the province most vitally interested and its consent is essential to the fruition of the plan.

CALGARY'S NEW TRANS-

CANADA AIR PORT

Work has been commenced on the new Trans-Canada airport at Calgary. The new airport will be situated on the north-western limits of the city. This will be a valuable addition to the city and is a tribute to the influence placed Calgary's location and other advantages before the Federal government, so favorably as to win this new contract.

Teaches Farley To "Draw Long Bow"

EDMONTON LETTER

EDMONTON, ALBERTA. —

Social Credit party having only celebrated "Democracy Day" the third anniversary of the Alberta provincial election in which 54 per cent of the total vote gave Alberta's group 81 per cent of the legislature seats.

The "Democracy Day" meetings were held in various parts of the province, without any sign of a crowd or any assembling of the 20,000 which Aberhart claimed attended a previous anniversary celebration in Calgary. Nor did the speakers at Monday's talk-fests indicate whether the province should anticipate the return of democracy, or mourn for its passing.

The government's financial statement for the fiscal year's first quarter, which ended June 30, was made public last week. It showed heavy increases in taxes taken from taxpayers in comparison with the corresponding period for that year: a total of 37,125, 622 was collected by the government during the three months, an increase of $108,491. Total expenditures for he that period increased $217,477. Total of $5,563,044.

Those figures are on the one of the most optimistic versions, inasmuch as all uncollected payments to collect all the accounts, and not run too much into paying off obligations, which would show a report. These figures do not include something over three quarters of a million dollars which is being withheld in reduced interest payments on the provincial debt, or $21,000 which was out from relief grants in comparison with last year.

Provisional government grants for direct relief in drought areas were increased by almost $345,000.

When these items are considered, said observers here, it is obvious that despite the reduced budget, presently, Alberta's government is coping steadily more, although an amount close to $2,000,000 has been deflected in the last three years and is not taken into account in expenditures.

Reduction of $267,727 in the provincial deficit for 1937-38 was announced for the three months. Most of the decrease was accounted for in savings certificates, of which about $7,000,000 had been issued. The total figure on the provincial debt does not include the $7,000,000 interest defaulted, but does count the unpaid and overdue mortgage amortization.

Back in Edmonton after his trip to Salt Lake City and Los Angeles, Provincial Treasurer Nelson Low talked with the premier for a while and then asked newspapers to quote him as denying that he had intended to try to replace Aberhart as premier. "All right," he said, "the product of a tired mind," he said.

It became known that Mr. Low's heated attitude in a remodeling scheme on his own initiative were dashed on his trip north. He is expected now to remain in the background on the new quiet emergency against the present government. In the meantime, Aberhart denied that he planned any change in the cabinet.

Democrat Magistrate A. I. Gibson, of Edmonton, was a highlight of the week around the capital. The premier is also attorney general, refused to state his reasons for firing the magistrate. Mr. Gibson refused to present his own case to the public but he had a clash with the government a few months ago over the Powell and Davis cases — that the government tried to influence a remodeling scheme to be followed, and that he refused to take orders as to how he should conduct the case or what decisions he should render at the preliminary hearing.

PEACE PROSPECTS MORE HOPEFUL

YOUTH — "If the youth of the world do not war, then there will be no war. Let your speech be: 'Let there be peace.'"

New York's Mayor, La Guardia at welcoming ceremonies, the World Youth Conference, with some 50 delegates from 25 nations in attendance, gets under way. The Vassar College Campus is the scene. Whispers that the old Elm's leaves have trembled in horror over Communist utterances among the students, fade before the aim of the gathering, which is to bring lasting peace between nations, through the development of mutual understanding between the youth of different races.

PEACE — From Paris, Prague, and London, the cheering, cheering, cheering of World War veterans — has taught European diplomats that the raft of a nether does not demand a duel, even though at present the great European demands that the neighbors keep their own sabbars ready. Gendry Lash, Montreal writer, thinks the European statesmen, a surprising number of opinion that war is not necessary. Cool heads, counting costs, find that many of the European statesmen, for one uncertain, for some nations to really undertake. And most of them even now are planning for a powerful force to get the nations to think with the set by scare heads by bulletins propaganda suggestions, and deprived of facts applied by military and economic experts. The world is in a state of suggestion that war is inevitable, imminent. Which all goes to show that one would do well to think with care, not against the most cherished hopes.

Audience — Good heavens! Will it come to that?

One of the most important tasks of the school today is to prepare boys and girls for intelligent living in the world as they will find it. That is why they are being asked to give more and more attention to those subjects called the "Social Studies."
 What are these social studies, and what is their purpose? Broadly speaking, they are those branches of learning which can give one an understanding of the relations of human beings—men, women, and children—to one another and their physical surroundings. These relations take many forms. Some have to do with governments, the rights of citizens, and international affairs. They are covered by the term "political." Others involve the production, sale, and use of valuable goods; they touch upon land,
 capital, wages, hours of labor, profits,
 and property. These are known as "economic" relations. Still others pertain to the family, church, science, education, the arts, and numerous humane interests of mankind. They are,
 for convenience, put within the domain of sociology. To the branches of learning—political science, economics, and sociology—is added social geography, which describes the relations of human beings to land, bodies
 of water, mountains, minerals, plants, animals, and other "earth parts." Some knowledge of all these subjects is necessary for every one of us who wants to live and act wisely in the world as it exists today.

A FARMER'S MUSINGS

(By Tim Longbotham)

—181—
 SAW PLIES

After escaping from the ravages of Hail, Grasshoppers and other persistent foes of Western agriculture, a large number of wheat fields have suffered badly from the depredation of Saw flies.

The damage done in our own neighborhood runs as high as 25%, and although some of this is being recovered by the binders, a portion of it is again scattered when the bundles are dumped from the carrier.

One man was telling us that he is having good success by running a stake behind his binder, but this proceeding creates another difficulty.

The wheat first taken down by insects shows a heavy shattering, and the threshing of stalks and loose straw together is likely to affect the grade.

This possibility causes us to say that those who have to grapple with a well assorted variety of problems must be well pleased with farm life in Alberta.

One Good Thing
 Although a well known Citizen recently said the S. C. Government had done "absolutely nothing" for the people of the province, there is one good deed which probably escaped his memory.

This was the prompt action of the Aberhart administration in connection with assuming all the costs in connection with caring for tuberculous patients in the various institutions.

The proceeding has proven to be a great boon to many deserving folks, and a clinic for the treatment of cancer should be organized along similar lines.

At the present time, there is no place in the west where any one can go to have a fighting chance for life when afflicted by this malignant disorder.

Even for the well to do citizens, present facilities are too limited for the best results and government control is the right way of altering this unhappy situation.

A Thankless Task

Packing the burdens of others has never been a profitable position. For anyone, and the present situation in Palestine is the best example of this that the world has seen in a long time.
 In addition to nearly 100,000 Jewish soldiers, Britain has large forces of Special police operating there in the interests of peace and numerous casualties have carried pain and sorrow into many homes of the motherland.

Arabs everywhere resent the presence of British troops in the Holy land, and at least one prominent New York Hebrew is under the impression that the Arabs should be more severely handled.

Perhaps this man has not considered
 the fact that the Jews of the world have not shown any special desire to shed their blood for the sake of their own kindred in Palestine; nor have they put up any money to buy guns and ammunition for the campaign now under way.

Wagging his tongue before a large audience only caused further embarrassment for the British Government and it would be much better for him and all his kind to either lend their aid in a practical fashion or refrain from insulting in idle criticism.

WHEAT CARRYOVER

It is generally estimated that the Dominion requires 100,000,000 bushels for domestic consumption and next year's seedling. The 1938 wheat surplus is estimated at 200,000,000. With respect to export competition the Canadian government has indicated that the Wheat Board will not pursue a holding policy with the wheat it buys. Hence the surplus from this year's crop may be regarded as available for export at competitive price.

BELT or

DRAWBAR—

THE "CATERPILLAR" DIESEL

IS Bargain HORSEPOWER!

Yes sir—buying fuel for the "Caterpillar" Diesel Tractor is as pleasant as getting in on rare 1-cent sale bargains—like getting two full-sized horsepower for the price of one. And that holds true on either belt and power take-off work or heavy-duty drawbar pulling.

The above job, for example, is taking only slightly more than 1 gallon of low cost Diesel fuel per hour to keep the thrasher humming to capacity.

And the owner's of this outfit saved $246.80 in fuel costs over a gasoline tractor—in its first six months! Find out more about this "bargain" horsepower. Get the complete facts now.

DEMOCRACY DAY AND PREMIER ABERHART

The Social Credit government of the Province has been celebrating during the past week in various ways and places the third anniversary of their election to power.

Reading between the Times one cannot see any enthusiasm for the "good things achieved" on the part of the people. The numbers attending while somewhat vague figures are given, fall short of those attending similar functions last year. While on the part of the speakers which is more vital, there seems a belated effort to bolster up their works which have not been the clear ring of success.

It looks like the "Hand Writing on the Wall."

A NEW BEGINNING

Thursday September 31st will be a new beginning for pupils and teachers alike when the bell summons all to a new year of work, experience, development and enthusiasm of a more or less marked degree.

The hickory stick in large measure has been relegated to the shelf and the three T's have been supplemented by a variety of subjects that require the teacher to be well nigh a superman or woman.

The pendulum has swung far, where it is entirely beneficial in a very debatable question, some educationists being strongly in favor while others oppose it with equal emphasis. Experience in other fields has proven that out of the sum total will evolve a set-up with a combination of the old and the new that will make for a better balanced course.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

President Roosevelt returns after his holiday to face the political situation in no kid-glove fashion. At Georgia he declared for "Candidate Camp" to replace Senator George in the Senate in very unequivocal terms.

To the farmers of the South, the newly returned President, while still in Georgia, addressed an apology for the slow and imperfect functioning of the new Agricultural Adjustment Act. Trouble was, he explained, it was passed too late (February) to organize its administration properly in time to help with this year's cotton, tobacco and peanut crops. The President would get Secretary Wallace busy about it at once. In Washington Secretary Wallace, worried about plummeting farm prices of all kinds, squandered off to 200 A.A.A. State Committees—"The law is wonderful as drawn—Make it work!"

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. L. Strange
Director "Crop Testing Plan"

"Why is it" said my friend when I will call John Skeptic—for he certainly is a real skeptic—that in May, 1936, the price of Winnipeg wheat was 75 cents, that in January, 1938, it went up to $1.54, and that now it is down to 71 cents? Do you think these fluctuations are warranted?"

A careful examination of the records revealed that when in May, 1936, the price of Winnipeg wheat was 75 cents, which is the proper price relationship—ship—and that there was available then plenty both of Canadian and World wheat; that by January, 1938, there was considerably less World wheat, as the Liverpool future price rose to $1.35, but there was proportionately much less, indeed quite in sufficient, high strength Canadian wheat, so the Winnipeg price went to $1.54.

Now, however, the World price of wheat is down again to 75 cents and Winnipeg down to 88 cents, simply because there will soon be more World wheat, and more Canadian wheat, than may be required.

Actually we see in these fluctuations, the law of supply and demand in action, showing how prices fall when supplies are abundant, rise when supplies become scarce, and rise very high indeed when supplies become insufficient.

Thatcher, Henow and Apex, the new rust-resistant wheats, have been tried in the fires and have not been found wanting."

This year most unfortunately a rust epidemic visited our Prairies, and many farmers who had to depend on varieties susceptible to stem rust, such as Marquis, Centennial, Garret and Red Bob, have suffered serious losses with their crops both in yield and in grade.

The new rust-resistant varieties, however, have done well, for they have suffered little or no damage from the dread scourge. These farmers who were able this past spring to obtain sufficient seed to sow their entire fields to any one of these new varieties are fortunate; those who were not, however, will have the opportunity this coming year of obtaining their full requirements of the seed of any one of these rust-resistant varieties, for good seed will be plentiful and at a moderate cost.

Resistant to stem rust as these new varieties are, however, they can only be regarded as "stop gaps," to be replaced as soon as our Canadian Plant Breeders are able to release for use some of the better rust resistant strains which the Dominion Rust Research Laboratory now has in the making.

NAMAKA

Mrs Florence of Stately spent last week at the home of her daughter Mrs. Miller.

Mavis and Marjorie Mackie returned Sunday after a pleasant holiday at Arrowwood.

The familiar hawk of the wild geese has already been heard in the vicinity of Eagle Lake.

The many friends of Mrs. Pyle will regret to learn of her recent illness, and all hope for a speedy recovery. Mrs. Pyle's daughter Mrs. Chaddock of Cardston arrived by bus on Friday.

Miss Helen Thomson left on Sunday accompanied by her brother, Hans, who will enter Nebraska University where he will take a course in mechanics.

School will reopen on September 1st, with Miss Jean Cormack in charge of the Junior room and Mr. Norman Ellis in the Senior room.

Mrs. Jones and family of Calgary are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Waits.

HEALTH NOTES

Scraped Apple in Summer Complaint

The late Dr. ... an old family practitioner in Iroquois County, North Carolina, lost his first baby of cholera infantum two summers later his second child became desperately ill of the same complaint. Then the baby began to improve and the doctor "let him wait" for a few days. "Well, doctor," she replied, when he paused for breath "your baby is getting well, isn't she?"

When the doctor admitted that she was, she continued, "That's because I've been feeding it scraped apple. If you wait long to get well, let me keep on." Within a few days the baby was well and thereafter the doctor used scraped apple successfully in cases of diarrhoea and dysentery.

THE SPORTS LEDGER

Probably the most conspicuous assembly of golf names ever to appear in the Canadian Open Golf tournament went into action last Thursday for the three day action which will decide the winner for 1938 of one of the oldest titles on the Continent. There were entrants from the United States, Bermuda and even South Africa, all after the one object The Seagram Golf Cup and of course the cash prizes. All eliminations being completed Harry Cooper and Sam Shead lead the race towards the trophy with 277 each. A playoff will be necessary to decide the winner.

With the weather becoming a great deal cooler recently considerable interest has been aroused over the prospect of that extremely popular winter sport, Hockey. Already plans are buzzing and strong arrays of puck chasing talent are being gathered by Edmonton, Calgary, and Lethbridge. Some of the foremost players in the Allan Cup playoffs have been signed up from outside points to make the Alberta Hockey Picture of 28-29 very bright indeed.

Having enjoyed wonderful support in the 37-38 season the Leathbridge Maple Leafs have decided to make the coming hockey season still more interesting by the addition of such outstanding players as Ike Milford, 18th left winger originally from Winnipeg; Richard Klein, smart centre man, he hails from Saskatoon, and from the New York Rangers comes Sid Penn and Sque Allen from the Battledore Blues.

Scraped apple is one of the best methods of treating infantile diarrhoea. Just as apple juice is the best "pick-me-up" after severe exertion. The reason for the latter is that exertion causes a loss of potassium from the muscular tissues and since a pint of apple juice contains approximately 5 grains of potassium, the latter article is an effective remedy. Apple growers should profit by this knowledge. Mothers of families whose babies have diarrhoea, may use scraped apple with good effect before calling the doctor. —By John W. S. McCullough, M.D., D.P.H.
